 few drops of the oil of bergamot.

CINDERELLA BASKET.

A Bit of Fancy Work Which is Very Popular in England.
 This new Cinderella basket, from England, is in reality even daintier than the illustration suggests, for after all that cannot show the beauty of color. A simple rattan workstand, such as may be gotten for a small sum, is the foundation for this pretty object.
 The lower and the upper basket and the stand itself are gilded carefully and smoothly. When this is quite dry the lower basket has an inside lining of pale pink silk and an outer drapery of pink silk with a fringe formed of different lengths of silk, tipped with gold discs. A gold cord outlines the edge of the basket. The upper basket is lined in the same way and, in addition, has a full pocket-like top that draws up with gold cord and conceals the valuables inside. The outer drapery is similar to that on the lower basket, but so many of the golden discs are not required, as at regular intervals are set the fanciful slippers that make pockets and give the name to the basket. These are made of heavy pasteboard having the toes covered with pink and gold brocade, the under part of the sole with plain pink silk, and the upper with quilted satin. Of course, fanciful slippers can be bought ready made, but the industrious needlewoman will not find it difficult to make them for her own basket, and, as it is always possible to pick up scraps of brocade at reasonable prices, they may be especially decorative.

 By all means get brocade wrought either with gold or silver, as your stand itself may be either silvered or gilded. In pale-blue, Nile, old-rose, lavender, or whatever may be the special color you affect, a basket like this would be dainty, and really form an effective bit of furniture in your own room.—Ladies' Home Journal.

HELPFUL ALIMENTS.
 Consolation for Sufferers from Dyspepsia and Chronic Rheumatism.

The value of cowpox, voluntarily induced, as a protection against small-pox, is generally recognized. The same principle has been successfully extended to some of the worst diseases among animals, and it is expected that it may be applied in the case of some virulent human diseases.
 In England gout is a very prevalent and painful disease. In this country it is less common. Our climate inclines us to excessive mental activity. As a result of this the brain appropriates nervous force at the expense of the digestive system, and so disposes us to dyspepsia; but dyspepsia compels its victims, in spite of themselves, to indulge somewhat sparingly in rich food, in the too free eating of which gout originates.
 Of the two diseases dyspepsia is to be preferred. It seldom interferes with the day's work, and, except in very obstinate cases, is almost certain to be relieved by proper diet and exercise.
 Sick headache may often be counted in the class of helpful ailments, though it is a "bitter pill." There are two forms of it: one has its primary source in the brain, the other in the stomach.
 In both cases there is commonly some hereditary tendency to the disease, but the exciting cause is overwork; of the brain in one case, of the stomach in the other.
 The headaches necessitate occasional rest, while the dread of them acts as a constant check upon tendencies which otherwise result in grave harm. Indeed, attention to diet, with a little letting down of the average cerebral activity, professional, business or domestic, will generally insure a comparative immunity from attack.
 Acute rheumatism often gives rise to permanent heart trouble. Chronic rheumatism, on the contrary, may be helpful in cases of heart disease.

For instance, enlargement of the heart tends to increase until it reaches the dangerous limit. The patient's safety depends on his training himself to such habits as reduce strain on the heart, and rheumatic joints in the lower limbs are an admirable aid in this respect. The former rapid movements cease.
 A fatal running to meet the cars or the ferryboat is out of the question.
 The rheumatism is an uncomfortable companion, no doubt, but it may help to a long life—a decade or more, perhaps, beyond the three score and ten.—Youth's Companion.

A Cheap Dentifrice.
 One of the most agreeable of dentifrices is to be found in a few drops of tincture of myrrh in half a glass of water. It not only cleanses the mouth, making it fresh and sweet, but it is an excellent tonic for the gums and arrests decay. It also has the merit of being very inexpensive, as ten cents will buy enough to last a year.
